Why Love Island and why now?

When you actually look back at Love Island, you can see how many couples it's genuinely made. I don't know how many kids Love Island has made but there are a few aren't there?

Why would you say you're single at the moment?

I came out of a four-year relationship about a year ago. I was enjoying being in a relationship, there were just things I didn't like and we drifted apart.

Do you like dating? How do you like to meet potential partners?

I prefer to meet girls out and about. I think when you go looking for it, it's not as easy though, it's like you're too desperate for it. If I think you're the one or I like you, I'll take you out on a date but other than that, if we talk and I don't like where it's going - then I won't be throwing out dates.
