Why Love Island and why now?

I think I am at the point in my life where it would be quite fun to find someone and have fun along the way. And doing it in Mallorca and in the Villa would be a great opportunity, so why not?

What do you think you are going to bring to the Villa?

I think I am going to be a supportive Islander, I think I am going to bring a lot of fun. Hopefully some good laughs along the way and maybe some indecisive decisions.

Why do you think you are a catch?

I think I genuinely have what most females want. I've got a good job, I think I am a good looking lad and I have a lot of fun so I feel like I could add a lot of value to their lives if they add a lot of value to mine.

Why would you say you are single?

I've just been very indecisive. I think I am just not one to settle down easily.

How would your family and friends describe you?

They would probably describe me as quite unassuming but they'd say I am probably the heart of the party.

If you could sum up your dating history in one sentence what would it be?

Very unpredictable.

You have one chance to impress someone, what would you do?

Just be myself, I would just try and make them laugh and smile and hopefully I can do that.

Are you competitive? How do you feel about treading on toes?

I am very competitive, so I wouldn't be afraid to go after a girl if I wanted them.

What gives you the ick?

Someone who is quite needy. I quite like self sufficiency.

Do you fall in love quickly or are you a slow burner?

I am a slow burner for sure, yeah. I don't fall easily.

Do you have any claims to fame?

My grandad played for Liverpool and he was captain of Scotland back in the 1950s. He was in the hall of fame for Liverpool and he was in the hall of fame for Hibernian F.C.
