ITV releases new trailer for Prince Harry interview with Tom Bradby

Harry: The Interview on ITV1 and ITVX at 9pm on 8 January.

ITV has released a second trailer for its forthcoming interview with Prince Harry, The Duke of Sussex.

The clip material includes Tom Bradby questioning Prince Harry about his decision to discuss his relationships with family members in his autobiography, Spare, which will be published two days following the broadcast, on 10 January, by Transworld.

Prince Harry: "I don't know how staying silent is ever going to make things better."

Tom Bradby: “Wouldn’t your brother say to you, ‘Harry, how could you do this to me after everything? After everything we went through?’ Wouldn’t that be what he would say?”

Prince Harry: “He would probably say all sorts of different things.”

Tom: “Some people will say you’ve railed against invasions of your privacy all your life and the accusation will be here are you invading the privacy of your nearest and dearest without permission, now that will be the accusation.”

Prince Harry: “That would be the accusation from people that don’t understand or don’t want to believe that my family have been briefing the press.”

In the clip, the interviewer also asks Prince Harry about plans for the coronation of his father, HRH King Charles, set for later this year, as well as about his view of the monarchy and his role in it.

Tom: “If you are invited to the coronation will you come?”

Prince Harry: “There’s a lot that can happen between now and then.

“But, the door is always open. The ball is in their court. There’s a lot to be discussed and I really hope that they’re willing to sit down and talk about it.”

Tom: “Do you still believe in the monarchy?”

Prince Harry: “Yes.”

Tom: “Do you believe you will play a part in its future?”

Prince Harry: “I don’t know.”

Harry: The Interview is distributed internationally by ITV Studios.
