love island set to launch on itv1, itv2, itvx, stv and stv player on monday 3rd june at 9pm

Love Island is back and ready to set the nation's screens ablaze for another scorching summer! The ultimate search for love and global phenomenon returns to Mallorca for its eleventh series as the hit show continues to burn bright, having recently amassed over three hundred million streams on ITVX.

Love Island will return to screens on Monday 3rd June at 9pm and will launch across ITV1, ITV2, ITVX, STV and STV Player. Love Island will continue to resume on ITV2 and ITVX for the remainder of the series.

Produced by Lifted Entertainment, part of ITV Studios, and GroupM Motion Entertainment the launch episode of the last series attracted over 3 million viewers across all devices, last year's Love Island final was also the most watched programme for 16-34s on any channel and the series garnered 1.4 billion video views across all platforms, 56+ million likes on official Love Island content and over 1 million comments generated on all official Love Island content.

Love Island is co-owned by ITV Studios and GroupM Motion Entertainment and is distributed internationally by ITV Studios. The hit show has been commissioned in 27 territories ranging from the UK to the USA, Greece to Germany and many more.

Mike Spencer, Creative Director, Lifted Entertainment said:

"Love Island is back and viewers are in for a big treat this summer as we have a villa full of sexy singles heading out to Mallorca all looking for the one. We are planning to turn up the heat this series with brand new format elements, an incredible group of Islanders and an insta worthy villa providing the most stunning backdrop for their summer of love. Strap yourselves in for Love Island series 11"

Paul Mortimer, Director of Reality Commissioning & Acquisitions and Controller, ITV2, ItvBe said:

"Following the hugely successful 'All Stars' version this winter, we're delighted to be returning to the iconic villa in Mallorca for another summer season of the biggest reality show on television. After 10 series, I'm delighted to say that this year's cast of Islanders is as amazing as ever and I can't wait to see the entertainment and drama they'll bring to, what will be, a somewhat re-vamped show."

Martin Oxley, Head of Formats and Entertainment at GroupM Motion Entertainment and Executive Producer for Motion said:

"It's amazing to see that after 10 seasons, Love Island is still as hot-to-trot with the viewers as it is on-screen. The team at Motion are excited to see what the fresh format twists and new cast will bring to this year's sumptuous villa, along with the rest of the UK. So, flame on and game on for another 8 weeks of heartbreaks and hot summer loving!"

Love Island is back for its eleventh series and your fourth as host, how are you feeling about returning to Mallorca this summer?

I'm so excited to return to Mallorca this summer because it feels like we've had a big gap since the winter series. I'm ready for it, the fans are waiting, there's lots of anticipation and I can't wait to meet this year's Islanders. Love Island is the official start of summer.

This year's campaign is tied to the notion of 'where there's love there's fire', in your role as host, what has been the most heartwarming Love Island moment you've been a part of?

Kai and Sanam recently got engaged and they were the winners of my first ever series. I got to watch their love story blossom and it's proof that Love Island really works.

What are you hoping to see from this year's Islanders?

I'll be honest, I'm hoping for drama. I want loads of love and happy couples at the end but I do want to be entertained so I'm hoping for lots of fiery moments.

Aftersun is set to return alongside some new regular panellists, what do you love most about hosting this show and the live element of the format?

I love Aftersun, It's something I look forward to every Sunday. We get all the Islanders on and just have a laugh. Live TV has always been one of my favourite things to do, anything can happen on live TV which I always find exciting.

What advice would you give this year's Islanders ahead of them embarking on their Love Island journeys?

My advice would be to just go for it! It's a once in a lifetime experience and you don't want to have any regrets so go for it, make all the connections you can, you can always dash them if you don't feel like it, you've got to live it up in there.

Your Love Island looks seem to elevate with every series, do you have any standout fashion moments that have been your favourite pieces to wear when presenting the show?

The black Monot dress, it sold out after I wore it, that was definitely the best look for me.

Why do you think the Love Island Villa is the perfect place for hopefuls to find love?

We all experience extra bursts of love when we are in the sun when we are relaxed and in a nice environment. Everyone is feeling sexy in their bikinis so I think it's the perfect formula to find a connection.

A woman with long blonde hair, wearing a sparkly pink and silver bikini and high-heeled sandals, stands in a dark studio. Behind her is a large, glowing heart shape made of fire. The floor is dark and reflective, showing the woman's reflection and the fire's glow. Scaffolding is visible on the left and right sides of the studio.

Why Love Island and why now?

I'm ready to settle down and Love Island is an amazing opportunity to meet someone that isn't from my area. I love a cockney boy so I'm hoping there is one in there for me.

What do you think you'll bring to the Villa?

I think I will definitely bring some fire, I'm very opinionated and wear my heart on my sleeve. I'm really bubbly too so I'll definitely have a laugh as well as bringing some scouse glamour.

What makes you a catch?

I think the guys will be drawn to me as I'm outgoing and very easy to get along with. I'm confident, naturally funny and glam, I think they will like my chat.

If there was one thing you'd want your new fellow Islanders to know about you, what would it be?

I'd want them to know that I'm the best auntie, my niece and nephew are my world and mean everything to me.

Why would you say you're single?

I don't get out enough, I work weekends and tend to not go out in Liverpool anymore. If I want a night out I go down to London as I love the boys down south. Tall, dark and cockney is my type.

How would friends/family describe you?

They'd say I'm fun, outgoing, confident and a bit unpredictable.

If you had to pick three of the most important things you look for in a partner what would they be?

I want someone career driven, funny and loyal. Loyalty is the most important thing to me.

Tell us something not many people know about you?

I used to be a morris dancer when I was a kid.

If you had to pick any celebrities to be in the Villa with you, who would they be and why?

Justin Bieber because he's hot, I'd also like to have David Attenborough with me because he's really clever and Olivia Attwood because I think she's hysterical.

Why Love Island and why now?

I just think it's my time now I've hit 24 and I'm ready to settle down.

What do you think you'll bring to the Villa?

My personality is big and I'm pretty out there, I reckon I'll probably have one of the biggest personalities in the Villa.

What makes you a catch?

I say everything as it is so guys always know where they stand with me.

If there was one thing you'd want your new fellow Islanders to know about you, what would it be?

That I'm upfront.

Why would you say you're single?

I've been enjoying single life and the attention of different boys, it's fun. I've enjoyed being able to go on holiday with the girls and not having to worry about someone back home. All the girls are there texting in their room and I'm out till 4 in the morning living my best life.

How would friends/family describe you?

Cheeky, wild and really chatty.

If you had to pick three of the most important things you look for in a partner what would they be?

Tall, dark and handsome, it's just that isn't it? Let's be honest! And a rugby player.

Tell us something not many people know about you?

I became a world champion dancer in 2011, not many people know that. I was a professional street dancer.

If you had to pick any celebrities to be in the Villa with you, who would they be and why?

Channing Tatum, all day every day...

Why Love Island and why now?

I'm finally ready to find a sexy man and I think Love Island may just have some nice hunky guys for me. I think now is the right time as I've got a few greys so I need to bag a man sooner rather than later.

What do you think you'll bring to the Villa?

I'm a big personality and I like to be the centre of attention so I'll definitely bring the fun. I'd also say that I will bring the sass, I'm not looking for drama but I do tend to attract it.

What makes you a catch?

I'm funny and a very good cook so I'd definitely say I'm wifey material. I can also be a bit of a sugar mummy as I do like to spoil my partners and have been known to date younger guys.

If there was one thing you'd want your new fellow Islanders to know about you, what would it be?

I've got something very special about me which is my disability, it's a condition I was born with called Ebs Palsy. It doesn't define who I am, but it makes me a little different, although I've learnt to get on with it and it's never held me back.

Why would you say you're single?

I'm picky and tend to get bored quite easily, I also end up picking the wrong guys so it never works out long term.

How would friends/family describe you?

My friends would say that I'm the loudest person in the group, I'm the one who's always up for doing a dare, they'd say I was the life and soul of the party.

My family would say that I'm bossy and that it's always my way or the highway, they'd say I rule the roost.

If you had to pick three of the most important things you look for in a partner what would they be?

Height is important to me as I'm a taller girl, I also like a guy with an athletic build. In terms of personality, I like a guy to own the room and have a good presence and sense of humour.

What's your claim to fame?

I've performed a duet with Tyson Fury! I was doing a season in Magaluf and we were both in the VIP area of a club and I got chatting to him and his friends. They were so lovely, we sang 'Hold You' by Gyptian and I rapped the Nicki Minaj verse, it was such a slay.

Tell us something not many people know about you?

I can do an amazing Hannah Montana impression, I've been told my take on Miley Cyrus is very good.

If you had to pick any celebrities to be in the Villa with you, who would they be and why?

Drake and Rihanna.

Why Love Island and why now?

All my friends are in relationships, settled down with babies and I'm going to end up that aunt that rocks up at family parties and they say 'she's still not met someone, she's still going to Ibiza having a midlife crisis.' I just want to meet somebody and to be able to do all of that stuff too.

What do you think you'll bring to the Villa?

I think I will bring fun and honesty, maybe a bit too much honesty. And definitely a bit of sass, I'm a sassy girl.

What makes you a catch?

I'd say my personality. I'm quite bubbly and outgoing and I think I can make most people feel quite comfortable and that's a nice thing to have in this day and age - to put people at ease and build a relationship that way.

If there was one thing you'd want your new fellow Islanders to know about you, what would it be?

I like to have my own way. It's sometimes easier just to say yes to me and give me what I want. If I need to go to have a shower first then let me go first. I'm an only child so I'm used to getting my own way which isn't always a good thing.

Why would you say you're single?

I think I'm single because I don't underestimate the fact that I'm hard work. I know what I want and I'm not easily pleased. When you're a loud, outgoing woman, sometimes it can intimidate men - men don't always want that. I think that can sometimes put people off me because I am quite loud and you can hear me before you see me. Some men love that though.

How would friends/family describe you?

I think my friends would describe me as brutally honest. I think it's a good trait because at least you know where you stand with me. I'm never going to let you leave the room without looking your best - I would want someone to tell me! They would describe me as quite uplifting, if you're having a bad day then come and see me.

If you had to pick three of the most important things you look for in a partner what would they be?

I would say nice teeth, I love a set of white Turkey teeth but a good set of Turkey teeth. I would say personality traits, you have to be family orientated. I'm so close to my mum and I'd like my future partner to be really close with their family too. You have to be tall, you can't be shorter than me, I can't be having to question whether I can wear heels around you and what height of heels I can wear. If you're vertically challenged, it's not for me.

Tell us something not many people know about you?

I'm pretty talentless apart from having a good stage presence at karaoke, but I can't actually sing.

If you had to pick any celebrities to be in the Villa with you, who would they be and why?

Jude Law in The Holiday - wow! In terms of personality wise, someone like Rebel Wilson because she'd just make you laugh the entire time but also can imagine is quite sassy as well. And Leonardo DiCaprio, back in the day when he was in his prime.

Why Love Island and why now?

The pool in Portsmouth is not giving. I've tried dating, speaking to people on social media and it just hasn't been successful. Applying was a spontaneous thing, I didn't expect to get here!

What do you think you'll bring to the Villa?

I'm a girls' girl. My girls are my rocks and I'm theirs so I'll be a good friend as well as going in there to find a man. I like dressing up so I'll bring style, and I'd like to think I'm quite funny so I'll make people laugh. Bringing honesty as well - I'm good at picking up on people's personality traits and side-eyeing those who might be a liar.

What makes you a catch?

I'm a good looking girl, I know what I bring to the table. I carry myself well. I'm a bit of a wife - I like to take care of my man, cook for him, do his hair, give him massages, check in on him.

If there was one thing you'd want your new fellow Islanders to know about you, what would it be?

I just have resting b* face, it doesn't mean I'm upset, I'm not angry, I'm just chilling. It is just my face.

Why would you say you're single?

The right man hasn't come about yet. I haven't met my man yet. I like to catch the red flags early on.

How would friends/family describe you?

Loving, supportive, considerate, empathetic, loyal, and I've got a big heart!

If you had to pick three of the most important things you look for in a partner what would they be?

Honest, knows what he wants and a provider.

Tell us something not many people know about you?

I can sing a little bit but it's more singing in the shower!

If you had to pick any celebrities to be in the Villa with you, who would they be and why?

Chunkz, as he'd bring the jokes, making me laugh all day, and Brent Faiyaz so I'd have some eye candy.

Why Love Island and why now?

I've recently come out of a three year relationship, so it's time for me to open a new chapter in my life, hopefully I'll find love in the Villa!

What do you think you'll bring to the Villa?

For the boys, entertainment, a bit of fun and flirting. I'll definitely up the flirting. For the girls, I'm a really good friend.

What makes you a catch?

I'm really confident with the looks to match.

If there was one thing you'd want your new fellow Islanders to know about you, what would it be?

I'll bring the entertainment for everyone in the Villa, whether that's making the girls laugh or making the boys turn their heads, I'm sure that I'll bring the drama.

Why would you say you're single?

I've just not found the one yet, I haven't met someone that ticks all the boxes.

How would friends/family describe you?

A really sparkly person, everyone needs a bit of Harriet B sparkle.

If you had to pick three of the most important things you look for in a partner what would they be?

Loyalty and trust, they come as one. Good looks and personality are important too, I need someone with good energy that I can bounce off.

What's your claim to fame?

Being a bit of an IT girl in Brighton, I've done personal shopping for the rapper Arrdee and one of my best friends is Saffron Barker the YouTuber.

Tell us something not many people know about you? (Do you have any hidden talents or a party trick?)

I can do the splits. Whenever I'm having a few drinks, the splits come out.

If you had to pick three celebrities to be in the Villa with you as fellow Islanders who would they be and why?

David Beckham, he's gorgeous. Channing Tatum. Ed Westwick from Gossip Girl, he's 11 out of 10. The line 'I'm Chuck Bass' is something I think about all the time. He's my Roman empire, I'd want a villa full of eye candy!

A full-page photograph of a young man, Ayo Odukoya, standing in a dark studio. He is shirtless and wearing patterned shorts. Behind him is a large heart shape formed by fire. The floor is lit with a warm orange glow, and there are sparks or embers floating in the air. Scaffolding is visible in the background.

Why Love Island and why now?

It seems like something to have a go at. Of course, you can't go wrong trying to find that love again - that is something that would be amazing to find if possible. I don't really like being outside too much, I've been outside recently and it's not fun outside! I do prefer to be indoors chilling with that person I can do stuff with. It would be nice to have that with somebody again.

What do you think you'll bring to the Villa?

I think I'd bring excitement and joy. I think people would have someone to come to and talk to and feel comfortable being around or to have a laugh with. I think I'm somebody everyone would take to.

What makes you a catch?

I feel like the way I carry myself is very respectful and I think people take to that and once you show who you are to somebody you get it back tenfold. The way I am gives off a good enough energy for people to feel comfortable around me.

Why would you say you're single?

There is a lot going on with talking to other people and trying to find the connection you had before or talking to new people and it's just not working out, in terms of being compatible or not fitting. I've talked to people and felt a way about them but I just haven't been able to fully commit to that situation yet.

How would friends/family describe you?

They would say I'm very loveable, funny, a bit crazy sometimes but a very kind and relaxed person.

If you had to pick three of the most important things you look for in a partner what would they be?

I think someone with morals is massive to me and who is very grounded and humble.

Tell us something not many people know about you? (Do you have any hidden talents or a party trick?)

I can have an unreal two-step, that's the most I can say.

Why Love Island and why now?

At this point in my life I just want the opportunity to find a real connection with someone. I've been looking for that connection for quite some time but I've never really found it, I'm hoping I find that spark in the Villa.

What do you think you'll bring to the Villa?

I will definitely bring lots of energy but can also have deep conversations so will bring both of those sides of my personality to the Villa.

What makes you a catch?

My personality and chat, I'd like to think I've got lots of depth and substance which should hopefully help me out when trying to find a connection.

If there was one thing you'd want your new fellow Islanders to know about you, what would it be?

I'd say not to judge a book by its cover because how I look compared to what I do for work might not necessarily add up. You wouldn't look at me as a tall guy covered in tattoos and think that I make girls' hair look pretty for a living.

Why would you say you're single?

I've not found someone who's on the same wavelength as me who can match my energy.

How would friends/family describe you?

They'd say I'm determined, If I want something I always find a way of making it happen.

If you had to pick three of the most important things you look for in a partner what would they be?

Manners are an important thing for me but also someone with good communication. Looks wise, I like a girl with a good smile.

If you had to pick any celebrities to be in the Villa with you, who would they be and why?

Margot Robbie because she's my dream woman, Megan Fox because she's hot and Yung Filly to make me laugh.

Why Love Island and why now?

It's the perfect time for me, I feel like I'm mature enough for something serious with the right girl.

What do you think you'll bring to the Villa?

A lot of energy, laughs and good vibes. I'm really friendly and approachable so I'll definitely get on with all the guys and girls.

What makes you a catch?

The height, beard and Welsh accent usually works a charm.

If there was one thing you'd want your new fellow Islanders to know about you, what would it be?

One of the coolest things about me is how easily I can open a beer bottle with my teeth. I know it's not a big flex but I'm really proud of it.

Why would you say you're single?

Probably because I'm selective about who I speak to. Dating in my area is also hard because it's small so everyone knows each other or is someone's ex.

How would friends/family describe you?

Funny, loud, kind and polite.

If you had to pick three of the most important things you look for in a partner what would they be?

Obviously looks but humour is a big thing for me, I'm a bit of a wind up so I want a girl who can give it back. Loyalty is another one for me, I think that's the most important thing to look for in a relationship.

What's your claim to fame?

When I was in Malia on a boys holiday I pretended to be Liam Reardon from series 7 to get into a club because they wouldn't let us in. It worked and we ended up getting a private booth and free drinks all night.

Tell us something not many people know about you?

I'm a very good cook, I make a mean steak.

If you had to pick any celebrities to be in the Villa with you, who would they be and why?

Madison Beer, she is one of the most beautiful women in the world. I'd also have to bring David Attenborough as I'd like to sit with him and hear all of his stories. Justin Bieber would also be great, I'd have him in the Villa so he could entertain us all.

A man with a beard and long hair, shirtless and wearing patterned shorts, stands in a dark studio. Behind him is a large, glowing heart shape made of fire. The floor is dark and reflective, with a bright orange glow from the fire. Scaffolding is visible in the background.

Why Love Island and why now?

London dating hasn't worked out for me. The opportunity to be surrounded by good looking people in a villa under the sun is an absolute no brainer! I'm 30 years old and I need to start thinking seriously about the next step, and what better place?!

What do you think you'll bring to the Villa?

Good energy always. I'm a lot of fun and I'll be very cheeky. And cheesy chat up lines!

What makes you a catch?

Nice hair, good teeth and good chat. I like the nicer things in life. I'm a family person, I love dogs and I'm a good lover.

If there was one thing you'd want your new fellow Islanders to know about you, what would it be?

Just that I'm a great guy.

Why would you say you're single?

I haven't found the right girl, I'm quite picky and have high standards. Dating in London is horrible. You don't know who's single... but now you're putting me in a place where everyone's single so there's no issues around that.

How would friends/family describe you?

Confident, funny and charismatic.

If you had to pick three of the most important things you look for in a partner what would they be?

Good values, good banter and a pretty face.

What's your claim to fame?

I'm mates with Spencer Morgan (Piers Morgan's son). We met when I moved to Fulham in 2018.

Tell us something not many people know about you? (Do you have any hidden talents or a party trick?)

I was born on Valentine's Day. The girls never know that I'll be cupid for them if they're lucky.

If you had to pick any celebrities to be in the Villa with you, who would they be and why?

Margot Robbie - blonde, blue eyes and seems like a great person. I'd have Micky Flannagan just for the banter.

Why Love Island and why now?

I've always been one for relationships and when you have found someone you want to be with it's the best feeling. Now is the perfect time, the one thing that is missing is my soulmate.

What do you think you'll bring to the Love Island Villa?

A lot of fun, a lot of honesty; I am very straightforward. I'm quite cheeky and I find it hard to make my mind up - my judgement of character can be quite bad.

What makes you a catch?

5'11, tall, dark and handsome. Not quite 6 foot. Great smile, great teeth, great arms and abs - the full package.

If there is one thing you want your fellow Islanders to know about you, what would it be?

This is random but I have a third nipple. It's discrete but when it gets cold it comes out.

Why would you say you're single?

I am very picky. After you've had a long term relationship you figure out what you want from someone. Even if you haven't been in loads of relationships, you zone in on what you want.

How would your friends and family describe you?

Very loving, caring and thoughtful. I'm the kind of guy that if you broke down on the motorway and needed your tyre changed, I'd be there at any time of night.

If you had to pick 3 of the most important things you look for in a partner, what would they be?

Caring, ambitious and supportive.

Tell us something that not many people know about you?

I love karaoke. My favourite tune is 'Stand By Me'.

If you had to pick any celebrities to be in the Villa with you, who would they be and why?

Elvis Presley and Margot Robbie, she slays life. I can be her Ken.

A man with a beard and short dark hair, shirtless and wearing white shorts, stands in the center of a dark studio. Behind him is a large, glowing heart shape made of fire. Why Love Island and why now?

I've always thought about Love Island but now I'm 27 it feels like the right age for me to be serious about finding someone and settling down.

What do you think you'll bring to the Villa?

I'm a fun, bubbly person looking for a good time so I'm confident that I'll get on really well with everyone and can hopefully find a nice girl whilst I'm at it.

What makes you a catch?

I always get told I've got a nice smile and I'm tall which goes down well with the girls.

If there was one thing you'd want your new fellow Islanders to know about you, what would it be?

I love Mayonnaise, I have it on everything I eat, even a roast dinner. The only thing I don't have it on is cereal.

Why would you say you're single?

I've had two serious relationships in the past but more recently have enjoyed being single and doing my own thing as I've been focussed on my football career. I've got to the age where I want to find the right person I can build a life with.

How would friends/family describe you?

Fun and bubbly but miserable if I've not got my mayo.

If you had to pick three of the most important things you look for in a partner what would they be?

I want someone that's family orientated, caring and career minded. Lookwise, I like blondes with nice boobs but am partial to a brunette too.

What's your claim to fame?

Bradley Dack is my best friend and he and Olivia are a big part of my life. I call Olivia my big little sister, she always looks out for me.

If you had to pick any celebrities to be in the Villa with you, who would they be and why?

Ricky Gervais would be a good laugh, he's a funny guy. I'd also like Margot Robbie for the eye candy, I'd like to try my luck with her. I'd want Gordon Ramsay in there too to make me some nice food because all I can make is a toastie.

love island official partners

The 11th series of Love Island features a host of commercial partners coupling up with the show.

eBay is returning as headline sponsor for Love Island Season 11 making this the fifth consecutive season in partnership with ITV. Spotlighting the power of pre-loved fashion on millions of screens nationwide, eBay will be providing items for the villa's shared wardrobe, including pre-loved clothing, authenticated sneakers and garments from eBay's Imperfects range. Viewers can expect to see fashion items ranging from high-end designers, to the nation's favourite high-street brands. And for the first season ever, both buying and selling pre-owned fashion is free of fees on eBay UK. Since the partnership began in 2022, eBay has continued to see demand for pre-loved rise, with searches for 'love island pre-loved' having increased by over 600% on the platform since the All Stars season aired.

Boots returns as the official beauty partner for the sixth consecutive series, stocking almost 150 brands in the villa with an unmissable range of premium and professional makeup, fragrance, skincare, suncare, grooming and haircare lines. Islanders will be turning heads this series with new-to-Boots exciting brands including The Beauty Crop, MILK and much more. The best part? Viewers will be able to crack on and shop villa beauty faves and the Boots x Love Island Beauty Box (available this summer) via the Love Island app and through a dedicated hub on boots.com.

WKD returns as alcohol partner for the fourth year with an exclusive content series that will run across digital and social media, presence on the Love Island App and activation in retail outlets and bars across the UK.

Google Pixel returns as the official phone of Love Island for the 5th consecutive season, putting the Google Pixel 8 Pro in the hands of this year's islanders. Expect more stunning snaps of the Love Island cast with Google's most powerful phone and best Pixel camera yet. Plus, keep your eyes peeled for an exclusive sneak peak of each night's episode with this year's First Look brought to you by Google Pixel.

Sky Mobile is coupling up with Love Island for the first time this series. The UK's fastest growing network will be the official sponsor of the Exit Interviews and co-sponsor of the podcast.

PepsiCo Beverages (UK) and Best Cereal will both respectively be joining as partners for series 11, and will be product placing goods in the villa.
